

CONTENTS

Foreword	v
Preface	vii
Acknowledgements	ix
Table of Cases	xvii

Introduction	1
---------------------------	---

PART I. THE IDEA OF HYBRIDITY IN COMPARATIVE LAW

Chapter 1. The Debate on the Diffusion of Law	7
--	---

1. The Terms of the Debate	9
1.1. Legal Transplants	9
1.1.1. Orthodoxy	9
1.1.2. A Doctrinal Refinement	12
1.2. Postmodernist Approach to Legal Borrowing	13
2. Limits	14
2.1. The (Marginalised) Sociological Aspect of Law	14
2.2. The Opacity of the Postmodernist Perspective	16
3. The Way Forward	17
3.1. The Process of Reception	18
3.2. The Causes of Borrowing	19
3.2.1. Chance/Prestige	19
3.2.2. Economic Efficiency	20

Chapter 2. The Leitmotif of the Book	23
---	----

1. The Concept of Hybridity	23
1.1. Foundation	23
1.2. The Theoretical Background	24
1.3. The Contents and the Effects	24
1.4. The Limits of the Notion of Cultural Hybridity	25
1.5. A Terminological Alternative	26

2.	The Scope of the Postcolonial Debate	26
2.1.	The Concept of ‘Pseudo-Colonialism’	26
2.2.	Hybridisation and ‘Pseudo-Colonialism’	28
2.2.1.	‘Pseudo-Colonialism’ and Hegemony	28
2.2.2.	An Archaeological Perspective	29
2.2.2.1.	General	29
2.2.2.2.	Non-Hegemonic Contacts	30
2.2.2.3.	Hegemonic Contacts	32
2.2.2.4.	Conclusions	33

Chapter 3. Hybridisation and Legal Reception 35

1.	Analogy	35
1.1.	Introduction	35
1.2.	Colonialism and the Process of Legal Borrowing	36
1.3.	Patterns of Legal Reception: an Overview	36
1.3.1.	Non-Hegemonic Contacts	37
1.3.1.1.	The Context	37
1.3.1.2.	Legal Transfers	37
1.3.1.3.	Legal Reception in Germany	38
1.3.1.4.	Conclusions	38
1.3.2.	Hegemonic Contacts	39
1.3.2.1.	General	39
1.3.2.2.	The Mechanism of Reception	39
1.3.2.3.	The Significance of the Reception of the Civil Code	41
1.3.2.4.	Conclusions	41
2.	The Test Case	41
2.1.	General	41
2.2.	Rationale	42
2.2.1.	England	42
2.2.2.	Modes of Share Transfer	43
2.2.3.	Holding Patterns	44

Summary of Part I 45

PART II. THE CIRCULATION OF SHARES

Introduction to Part II 49

Chapter 4. The Transfer of Registered Shares 51

1.	The Current Legal Framework	51
1.1.	Legal Nature	52
1.2.	Physical Manifestation	53

1.3.	Modes of Transfer	54
1.3.1.	Certificated Shares	54
1.3.2.	Dematerialised Shares	57
1.4.	Legal Characterisation of the Transfer of Registered Shares	60
1.5.	The Protection of an Innocent Purchaser of Registered Shares and Competing Claims to the Legal Estate	63
1.6.	Conclusions	65
2.	Historical Foundations	66
2.1.	Introduction	67
2.2.	A Preliminary Clarification: the Meaning of Incorporation	67
2.2.1.	The Court of Chancery and the Rise of the (Unincorporated) Company	68
2.2.2.	Incorporated/Unincorporated Companies	71
2.3.	Historical Basis for the Transfer of Registered Shares	74
2.3.1.	Chartered and Statutory Companies	75
2.3.2.	Partnership and Unincorporated Joint Stock Companies	75
2.3.3.	From Unincorporated Joint Stock Companies to Registered Companies	76
2.4.	Conclusions	78
3.	Legal Borrowing and Hybridisation	79
3.1.	Commercial Contacts	81
3.1.1.	Relevance of the Italian Merchants in Medieval England	82
3.1.2.	‘Pseudo-Colonial’ Settlements	84
3.1.3.	Commercial Contacts and Borrowing	85
3.2.	Patterns of Borrowing and Reception	86
3.2.1.	The ‘Direct Bodily Transplantation’ Theory	86
3.2.2.	The Conventional View	87
3.3.	Early Forms of Commercial Association	88
3.3.1.	The Commenda	90
3.3.2.	The Societas	92
3.3.3.	The Compagnia	93
3.3.4.	Conclusions	95
3.4.	The Advent of the Joint Stock Company in England	95
3.4.1.	On the Origin of the Joint Stock Company	95
3.4.1.1.	The Orthodox Position	96
3.4.1.2.	Critique of the Orthodox View	97
3.4.2.	The Rise of the Joint Stock Model	98
3.4.3.	Hybridisation	103
3.4.3.1.	Complexities in the Pattern of Borrowing and Legal Reception	103
3.4.3.2.	The Impact of Borrowing on Legal Evolution	104
3.4.3.3.	Hybrid Paradigms	105
3.5.	Conclusions	106

Chapter 5. The Transfer of Share Warrants to Bearer	109
1. The Current Legal Framework	110
1.1. Legal Nature	110
1.2. Physical Manifestation	111
1.3. Transfer of Title in Share Warrants to Bearer	112
1.4. Nature of Transfer of Share Warrants at Common Law	113
1.5. The Protection of an Innocent Purchaser of Share Warrants to Bearer	113
1.6. Conclusions	114
2. Notes on the Early History of Negotiable Instruments	115
2.1. The Initial Scheme for the Circulation of Negotiable Instruments	116
2.2. The Advent of the Exchange Transactions in England and its Economic Rationale	117
3. The Pattern of Reception of Negotiable Instruments	118
3.1. The Condition of Law Merchant and Common Law before the Eighteenth Century	119
3.1.1. The Conventional Interpretation	119
3.1.2. The Centrality of the Common Law	120
3.2. The Significance of the Debate on the Nature of Law Merchant on the Process of Hybridisation	121
3.2.1. Borrowing and Incorporation	121
3.2.2. Legal Reception and Negotiability	122
3.2.3. Hybridisation	124
3.3. Normative Consolidation	125
3.3.1. Bills of Exchange	125
3.3.2. Promissory Notes	126
3.3.3. The Bills of Exchange Act 1882	127
4. The Advent of Share Warrants to Bearer	128
4.1. From Scrip Certificates to Share Warrants to Bearer	129
4.2. Conclusions	130
Summary of Part II	133
PART III. THE TRANSFER OF (INTERESTS IN) SHARES
Introduction to Part III	139
Chapter 6. Indirect Holding and the Process of Legal Evolution	141
1. Underlying Themes	141
1.1. Electronic Settlement Systems	142
1.1.1. Immobilisation	144
1.1.2. Dematerialisation	144

1.2.	Sources of Legal Risk	145
1.2.1.	Unsound National Law	145
1.2.1.1.	Legal Arrangement for Indirect Holding	147
1.2.1.2.	The Protection of the Account Holders' Assets from the Claims of an Intermediary's Creditors	148
1.2.1.3.	Shortfalls in the Assets Held by the Intermediary	151
1.2.1.4.	The No Look-Through Principle	153
1.2.2.	Conflict of Laws	153
1.3.	Irreconcilable Conceptual Characterisations	156
1.3.1.	Direct Enforcement Systems	157
1.3.2.	Indirect Enforcement Systems	157
1.4.	Conclusions	158
2.	The Process of Legal Evolution	158
2.1.	The Need for Law Reform	158
2.2.	The (Substantive) Law Reform Projects	160
2.2.1.	The Geneva Securities Convention	160
2.2.1.1.	Chronology	160
2.2.1.2.	Contents	161
2.2.2.	The Advice of the Legal Certainty Group and the Consultation Document	162
2.2.2.1.	Scope	162
2.2.2.2.	Contents	163
2.2.3.	Comparison	164
2.3.	The Pattern of Legal Change and Hybridisation	166
2.3.1.	Ad Hoc Response to Legal Uncertainty	166
2.3.1.1.	The Protection of the Account Holders' Assets from the Claims of an Intermediary's Creditors	166
2.3.1.2.	Shortfalls in the Assets Held by the Intermediary	167
2.3.1.3.	The No Look-Through Principle	168
2.3.2.	Hybridisation	169
2.3.3.	A Broader Perspective	171
2.4.	Conclusions	173
Chapter 7. The Protection of the Innocent Transferee of Intermediated Shares		175
1.	The English Legal Framework	176
1.1.	The Concept of Equitable Interest in Shares	176
1.1.1.	Relevance	176
1.1.1.1.	Sale	177
1.1.1.2.	Gift	178
1.1.2.	The Constituent Elements of the Equitable Interest in Shares	180
1.1.3.	The Legal Nature of Intermediated Shares	180
1.1.4.	The Legal Nature of Successive Transfers of Equitable Interests in Shares	180

1.2.	The Direct Holding System	182
1.2.1.	General	182
1.2.2.	Dichotomy	182
1.3.	The Indirect Holding System	183
1.3.1.	General	183
1.3.2.	Availability of the Defence for the Purchaser of Intermediated Shares	184
1.3.3.	Absence of Legal Alternatives to Assist an Innocent Purchaser of Intermediated Shares	185
1.4.	Comparison and Rationales	186
1.5.	The Way Forward	187
1.5.1.	The Establishment of a General Defence.	188
1.5.2.	The Reality of Modern Financial Transactions	188
1.5.3.	An Ad Hoc Amendment of the Existing Law	189
1.6.	Conclusions	189
2.	A Comparative View	191
2.1.	The Italian Legal System	191
2.1.1.	Nature and Modes of Transfer	191
2.1.1.1.	Nature	191
2.1.1.2.	Modes of Transfer	193
2.1.2.	The Operation of the Bona Fide Purchaser Defence	194
2.2.	UCC Article 8	195
2.2.1.	Overview	196
2.2.2.	The Legal Framework for the Protection of the Innocent Purchaser of Intermediated Shares	196
2.2.3.	Rationale.	198
2.3.	Conclusions	199
3.	The Process of Law Reform	200
3.1.	The Recommendations of the Law Commission	201
3.1.1.	Amendments to the Existing Law	201
3.1.2.	Other Possible Options	202
3.2.	The Geneva Securities Convention	202
3.2.1.	The Legal Framework.	203
3.2.2.	Genesis of Article 18 and the Debate in the Preparatory Works.	204
3.2.3.	The Advice of the LCG/Consultation Document	206
3.3.	Legal Change and Hybridisation	207
3.3.1.	First Step.	208
3.3.2.	Second Step	210
3.4.	Conclusions	211
	Summary of Part III	213
	Conclusions	217
	Bibliography	225