ABOUT THE AUTHORS

Massimo Fichera

Massimo Fichera (PhD, University of Edinburgh) is a Post-Doctoral Fellow at the Finnish Academy Centre of Excellence in Foundations of European Law and Polity Research. His research interests lie in the intersection between EU and international law and the conceptualisation of the notions of community and security. His monograph The Implementation of the European Arrest Warrant in the European Union: Law, Policy and Practice (Intersentia, 2011) deals with the principle of mutual recognition in criminal matters.

Alun Gibbs

Senior Lecturer in Public Law at the University of Southampton. Formerly, a researcher at the European University Institute in Florence where he worked on constitutional issues surrounding the EU's Area of Freedom, Security and Justice.

Jens Kremer

Jens Kremer is a Doctoral Researcher at the Faculty of Law in Helsinki and the Centre of Excellence in Foundations of European Law and Polity Research. He holds a Masters Degree in Political Sciences, Law and Sociology from the University of Würzburg and a LL.M. in Public International Law from the University of Helsinki. His main areas of interest are on public international law, international human rights law and security as well as legal and political theory. His current research focuses on modern surveillance technology and human rights.

Sakari Melander

LL.D., docent (criminal law) Sakari Melander is currently working as a Post-Doctoral Researcher at the University of Helsinki. His research interests include European criminal law, especially EU criminal law, criminal law theory, criminalisation and punishment theories and foundations of criminal justice policy. He is a member of the Centre of Excellence in Foundations of European Law and Polity based at the University of Helsinki.

Kimmo Nuotio

Kimmo Nuotio is Professor of Criminal Law at the University of Helsinki. He is currently the Dean of the Faculty of Law. He is also the Vice-Director of the Centre of Excellence in Foundations of European Law and Polity Research, funded by the Academy of Finland. Nuotio has researched on theoretical issues concerning criminal liability, most recently in the context of European law.

Tuomas Ojanen

Tuomas Ojanen is Professor of Constitutional Law at the University of Helsinki. He is also part-time professor within the SURVEILLE project at the European University Institute and a researcher at the Academy of Finland Centre of Excellence in the Foundations of European Law and Polity. His main areas of research and expertise include Finnish constitutional law, international human rights law and constitutional law of the EU.

Jarna Petman

Dr Jarna Petman (LL.D.) is Deputy Director of the Erik Castrén Institute of International Law and Human Rights, of which she is one of the three founders, and Senior Lecturer (professor ad interim) of International Law at the University of Helsinki. Dr Petman is also a Member of the European Committee of Social Rights as well as a research fellow at the Academy of Finland Centre of Excellence in the Foundations of European Law and Polity. She has worked as a legal consultant and has trained judges and prosecutors in Finland and abroad. She acts as a legal expert before the Constitutional Law Committee of the Parliament of Finland and is an expert member of the Human Rights Advisory Board of the Ministry for Foreign Affairs. She frequently appears in the media as a commentator on current affairs.

Kaarlo Tuori

Kaarlo Tuori is Professor of Legal Theory at the University of Helsinki. He is a legal and constitutional theorist, combining legal scholarship with social science and philosophy. He currently holds the position of distinguished Academy Professor (2011) and is Vice-President of the Council of Europe's Venice Commission (European Commission for Democracy through Law). His main publications include Critical Legal Positivism (Ashgate, 2002) and Ratio and Voluntas (Ashgate, 2011).
